Merino types decline again as downward trend continues

The Australian wool market continued to track downwards this week, recording overall losses for the fifth week in a row.

The Australian Wool Exchange (AWEX) Eastern Market Indicator (EMI) fell by 16 cents (0.8%) for the week to close on 1,947 cents per kilo clean on Thursday 28 March. In US dollar terms, the EMI was down by 21 cents (1.5%) to finish on 1,382 US cents.

The Australian dollar against the US dollar finished 0.48 cents (0.7%) lower to close at 70.97 US cents cents on Thursday.

This week's total national offering was 37,405 bales, compared with 43,129 bales last week. The clearance rate this week was 88.15%.

Sales were held at all three selling centres on Wednesday 27 and Thursday 28 March. On Wednesday the EMI fell by 13 cents to 1,950 cents and in US dollar terms declined by 18 cents to 1,385 US cents. On Thursday the EMI decreased by a further 3 cents to 1,947 cents and in US dollar terms also fell by 3 cents to 1,382 US cents.

The market opened on an easier note on Wednesday, but appeared to finish on a more settled note on Thursday. It was also another week in which the crossbreds, with rises in all average AWEX Micron Price Guides (MPGs), did better than the Merinos, which saw falls across all the average AWEX MPGs.

The MPGs for the Merino types were most affected up to 18 microns and least affected from 19.5 to 22 microns, where there were only small downward movements. 16.5 microns fell by 17 cents (0.7%); 17 microns was down by 18 cents (0.7%); 17.5 microns declined by 15 cents (0.6%); 18 microns decreased by 22 cents (0.9%); 18.5 microns was down by 11 cents (0.5%); 19 microns fell by 10 cents (0.4%); 19.5 microns lost 1 cent; 20 microns fell by 3 cents (0.1%); 21 microns decreased by 5 cents (0.2%); and 22 microns declined by 13 cents (0.6%).

AWEX reported that for the Merino fleece wools, in a continuing pattern, there was again the occurrence of "two markets" – one for the good style / higher yielding wools and one for the lesser style / lower yielding types. Due to the diminishing supply of the better wools, good style lots again attracted excellent buyer support, selling at levels very similar to those achieved at the previous sale. However, the inferior / lower yielding wools were discounted as again buyers struggled to average them into their purchases. The result of these discounts was the overall reductions in the individual MPGs.

AWEX also noted that due to seasonal conditions the amount of fleece wool yielding less than 60% dry continues to rise. AWEX compiled an analysis on yield going back to the 2002 season and the results highlighted some noteworthy facts. In previous drought years the highest number of low yielding wools were found in mid-April, meaning these wools typically reach the market in Weeks 44 and 45. "This being the case, history shows us that the amount of low yielding wools will continue to rise over the next four weeks, continuing to put pressure on an already over supplied section of the market," AWEX said.

The crossbreds continue to defy the trend of the other sectors, again recording increases this week. Strong buyer activity helped to push prices up by 15 to 20 cents, the better prepared lines enjoying the largest increases. Among the average AWEX MPGs for the crossbred types, 26 microns rose by 22 cents (1.6%); 28 microns was up by 19 cents (1.6%); 30 microns increased by 16 cents (1.7%); and 32 microns was up by 20 cents (3.3%).

The oddments had another week of sharp falls, with the AWEX Merino Carding Indicator falling by 31 cents on Wednesday and another 6 cents on Thursday to continue its sharp up-and-down movements. It has fallen by 89 cents over the last two weeks.

AWEX reported that the total value of the wool sold this week was AU$67.3m (AU$2,041 per bale), taking the season total to AU$2.539bn (AU$2,188 per bale). Buyers for China were dominant, with support from buyers for India and Europe.

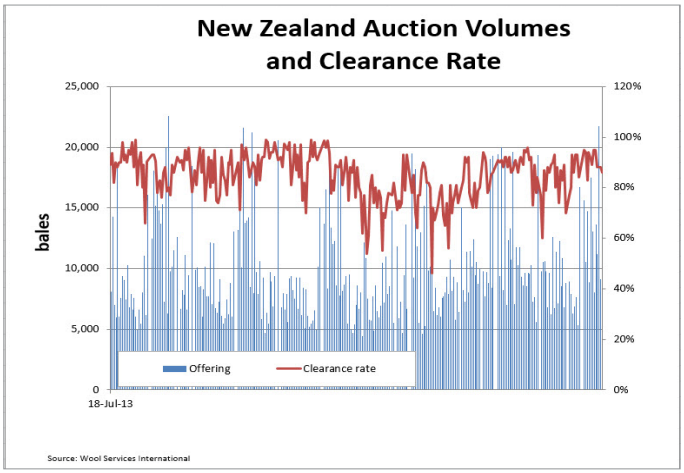

The national offering for next week (Week 40) is forecast to be 38,212 bales, while the projection for Week 41 is 35,945 bales and Week 42 41,055 bales.
