A lacklustre week for Australian wool market

This was a lacklustre sort of week for the Australian wool markets but the biggest take away was that the offerings continued to improve. Nevertheless, it was a tough week for auction sales.

The EMI retreated 25 cents to 1,530 a kg clean. A smaller national offering of 37,827, down 471 bales on last week, has contributed to an 11.2% year-on-year reduction in this seasons offering to date. Woolgrowers continued to hold on to their wool at this level with the national clearance rate of 86% contributing to a year-on-year rates of 94%

On Wednesday, the EMI fell 16 cents to 1,539 a kg clean or 14 cents to 1,043 US cents a kg. On Thursday, the EMI fell further 19 cents or 13 US cents a kg. The AWEX reported turnover of wool sold at AUD$54.03m, taking the season's total to AUD$895.47m.

Sydney was a softer market this week with prices across microns dipping on both sale days. Lots with favourable additional measurements and best style were less affected. Merino skirtings eased with low VM (< 2.5%), good strength and low midbreak lots finishing at the low end of that range. Crossbred lots also eased on the week while oddment lots maintained last week's levels on day one before gaining some ground on day two. The Northern Regional Indicator finished at 1,561 a kg clean down 30 cents with overall clearance rate at 87% same as in previous week.

In Melbourne, market continued its recent trends, with early price falls on day one prompting low clearance rates and encouraging greater buyer competition. Finer lots (< 17.5 µm) were in favour with small price falls on day one, followed by some modest price gains on day two as buyers sought out well measured lots with best style. Broader Merino lots (>18.0 µm) with inferior style, low strength, high midbreaks and higher levels of VM were either discounted or cleared at lower price. Merino skirtings followed the Merino fleece trend with stylish, well measured, finer lots in favour. Poorly prepared crossbred lots contributed to a softer crossbred market with many lots uncleared. The Southern Regional dropped 21 cents at 1,511 a kg clean with clearance rate at 87% the same as in the previous week.

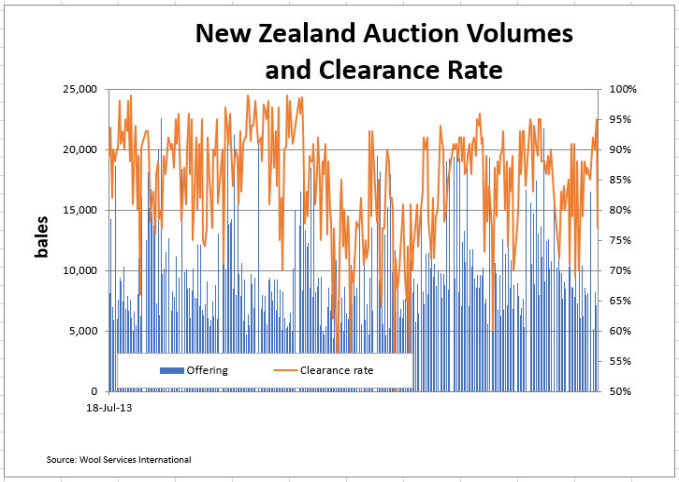

In Fremantle, the pattern was the same this week with the market losing ground, although the 21 µm MPGs bucked the trend. The finer MPGs (<19.5 µm) all lost for the week. Merino skirtings lost on day one before finishing day two unchanged. Locks increased on day one while all other oddment categories eased, before consolidating on day two. The Western Regional Indicator lost 15 cents to close at 1,640 a kg clean with some improvement in the clearance rate at 81% from 76% in the previous week.

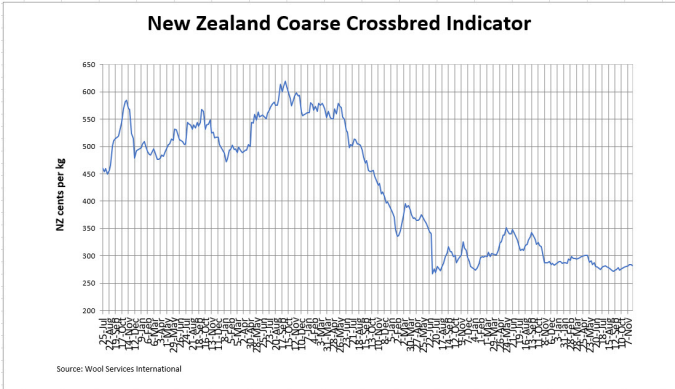

Next week, 41,274 bales are on offer across the three selling centres.

New Zealand wool market generally easier

The New Zealand fine wool market fell this week in comparison to the last sale held in Christchurch, in what can only be described as a very limited offering. Fine wools fell between 3-8% while halfbreds were cheaper by a similar proportion. Selection was once again extremely limited, but bidding was competitive even at a lower level.

This week saw 5,864 bales on offer in South Island, of which, 4,539 bales were sold posting a clearance rate of 77%. This week, selection consisted of 40% ewe hogget fleece, 31-35 micron, 25% ewe fleece, 36-40 micron, 13% early shorn/hogget second shear 31-38 micron and 7% associated oddments. Also on offer was 5% merino and halfbred fleece and 10% miscellaneous types.

Widespread competition was with China main and support from Australasian carpet mills and Indian Sub-Continent. Major buyers were Furhman (1,300), NZWSI/JSB (1,265) and Masurel (1,100) among others this week.

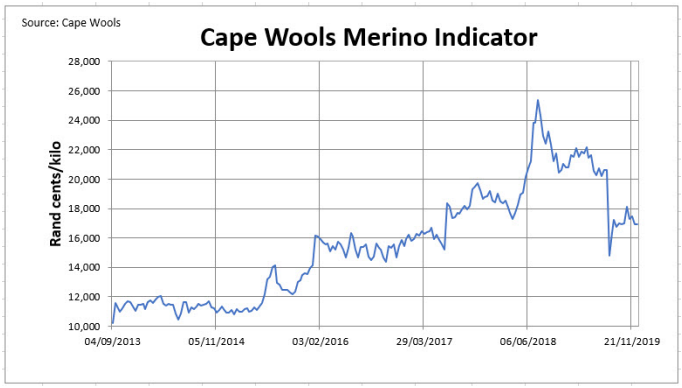

Prices movements in South Island compare North Island sale of 21 November were as follows: Fine crossbred fleece good style 1-2% cheaper and fine crossbred second shear in buyers favour and early shorn 1-3% cheaper. Coarse crossbred fleece of super style were 2-3% cheaper, good style were in buyers favour, average 1-2% dearer and poor style firm. Coarse crossbred early shorn and second shear good types 3/5 & 3/4 inch in firm to 2% dearer, and 2/3 were 1-2% cheaper and 2/4 firm. Crossbred oddments clothing good colour was firm and poor colour in buyers favour and combing also in buyers favour.

Next sale will be held on 5 December with South Island offering about 5,000 bales and North Island offering 8,500 bales.

Wool market remains under downward pressure

The 13th sale of the 2019-20 wool season held on 27-28 November had 12,264 bales on offer, of which, 95.8% was sold. The market closed 0.1% (24 points) down at a value of R169.17 a kg clean, with the Cape Wools All Wool Indicator closing 0.2% lower.

The week saw the Rand 0.2% weaker against the US Dollar and 0.5% stronger against the Euro, compared with the average rate at the previous sale.

Due to the currently experienced shipping backlog and the upcoming Chinese New Year, which may result in deliveries not being reaching clients by 20 January. Buyers and brokers agreed to postpone the sale scheduled for next week to early January 2020, in order to ensure wool purchased can reach its destination on schedule.

The good quality fine and medium length merino fleece wool still attracted good competition and traded well above the average market levels.

The major buyers were: Modiano SA (5,120), Standard Wool SA (4,295), Tianyu SA (831) and Lempriere SA (702).

The average clean prices for the selection within the different micron categories for good top-making (MF5), long fleeces were as follows: 18 microns decreased 0.1% to close at R182.53 a kg; 18.5 microns moved 0.7% up to close at R181.11a kg; 19 microns gained 0.5% to close at R178.86 a kg; 19.5 microns strengthened by 1.7% to close at R177.02 a kg; 20 microns was 1.4% stronger to close at R174.33 a kg; 20.5 microns lost 1.2% to close at R167.49 a kg; 21 microns recovered 0.5% to close at R175.41 a kg; 21.5 microns improved by 0.3% to close at R171.54 a kg; 22 microns fell 1.7% to close at 168.29 a kg and 22.5 microns climbed by 0.5% to close at R164.05 a kg.

The next sale is scheduled for 9 January 2020.
